

Re-Seeing the Permanent Collection The Viewer's Voice

August 21– December 22, 2013

Wednesday, November 6, at 6 p.m.

Concert featuring Musician-in-Residence
Brett Lipshutz and Marquette Students

This exhibition highlights works from the Haggerty's permanent collection selected by Marquette faculty, staff, and students. The featured work represents a wide range of styles, processes, and media created by Renaissance to contemporary artists from diverse locales. Project participants wrote a brief reflection on the piece they chose, expressing why they were drawn to the work and, in the case of some professors, how the work is used in their teaching practices. A catalogue containing the essays and images will be available for museum visitors. The reflections will also serve as wall text for the exhibited works of art and will be available online through the Haggerty's website.

Participants in The Viewer's Voice are Dr. Robert Bishop (Engineering), Dr. Louise Cainkar (Social Welfare and Justice), Ms. Sheena Carey (Communication), Dr. Scott Dale (Spanish), Dr. Patricia Ellis (Education), Mr. Daniel Flesch (Student), Dr. Marilyn Frenn (Nursing), Mr. Eddie Guzman (EOP), Mr. Jake Jumbeck (Student), Dr. C.
